Be an Introducer for Ascend

Introduction

Ascend Broking Group was established in 2017 and has a team of over 30 employees all working to provide excellent insurance services. We have access to a huge array of insurance products and build bespoke policies for our clients. We have also won a number of highly prestigious awards in the industry, all based around our client service.

We pride ourselves on a first-rate service and would like to give you the opportunity to pass this onto your valued clients via Platinum Partners, our introducer arrangement (governed by the FCA).

If you become a member of Platinum Partners and an introducer for Ascend, you can:

- Earn an effortless additional income
- Provide an extended service to your customers
- Avoid losing out to competitors who offer additional services
- Offer expert, secure and regulated support without having to train or hire
- Benefit from no set-up costs

How the introducer arrangement works

We send you an application pack for Platinum Partners.

We will review your application and agree with you the status and terms of our arrangement, and complete the FCA paperwork.

You sign an introducer agreement with us that outlines your role, the commission structure and the terms of your referral activities.

We provide you with an introductory pack with your dedicated contacts.

Once you've identified a potential client who could benefit from Ascend's services or products, you introduce them to us. This could be done through a formal introduction, providing their contact information or facilitating a meeting.

How you'll be rewarded

For each new policy we arrange for one of your introductions, Ascend will pay you a commission. Not only that, but we will also pay you a commission each and every time your referral renews their insurance with us (for as long as our introducer agreement is in place).

You can choose from Platinum, Gold and Silver commission tiers.

Some introducers will maintain an ongoing relationship with us, providing new leads over time, while others may prefer to make introductions on a case-by-case basis.

You are not required to provide any insurance advice, and our introducer agreement expressly prohibits it to ensure your protection, our protection and compliance with the Financial Conduct Authority regulations.

Our Promise

- We'll review your customers' circumstances every six months, so you and they can be assured they will continue to receive the right cover and value for money.
- We guarantee your customer will have a dedicated contact for their insurances with us, with direct contact numbers.
- If your customer needs to make a claim, we guarantee to respond to them and start the process on the same working day.
